

1.1 Introduction

In this lecture, an effort is made to differentiate Comparative Sociology as an area of study from other basic units in Sociology such as Socialization Process, Criminology, Deviant Behaviour, Political Sociology and Anthropology. The aim is to establish the subject matter in Comparative Sociology along with recognizing the major issues that revolve around theory and methods in Comparative Sociology.